

AS QUESTÕES DE 41 A 50 REFEREM-SE A LÍNGUA ESTRANGEIRA (INGLÊS – PÁG. 15 OU FRANCÊS – PÁG. 17)

VOCÊ DEVERÁ RESPONDER ÀS QUESTÕES RELATIVAS AO IDIOMA PELO QUAL OPTOU NO ATO DA INSCRIÇÃO

LÍNGUA INGLESA – QUESTÕES DE 41 A 50

Ask the Expert: Is Laughter the "Best Medicine" for Your Heart?

- 1 Can a laugh every day keep the heart attack away? Maybe so.
2 "The old saying that 'laughter is the best medicine,' definitely appears to be true when it comes to protecting your heart,"
3 says Michael Miller, M.D., director of the Center for Preventive Cardiology at the University of Maryland Medical Center. "We don't
4 know yet why laughing protects the heart, but we know that mental stress is associated with impairment of the endothelium, our blood
5 vessels protective barrier, which can cause a series of inflammatory reactions that leads to fat and ultimately to a heart attack."
6 About his recent study, Miller states that its most significant finding "was that people with heart disease responded less
7 humorously to everyday life events. They generally laughed less, even in positive situations, and they displayed more anger and 8 hostility.
9 "The ability to laugh - either naturally or as learned behavior - may have important implications in societies where heart
10 disease remains the number one killer," says Miller. "We know that exercising, not smoking and eating foods low in saturated fat will
11 reduce the risk of heart disease. Perhaps regular, hearty laughter should be added to the list."
12 Miller's conclusion leads to incorporate laughter into our daily activities, just as we do with other heart-healthy exercises,
13 such as taking the stairs instead of the elevator. "We could perhaps read something humorous or watch a funny video and try to find
14 ways to take ourselves less seriously," Miller says. "The recommendation for a healthy heart may one day be exercise, eat right and 15 laugh a few times a day."

(Available at: <http://www.umm.edu/features/laughter.htm>. Retrieved on: July, 2011. Adapted.)

41. According to the text, it is CORRECT to say that:

- a) people who takes life humorously tend to have heart disease.
- b) a heart attack can cause a series of inflammatory reactions.
- c) researchers know exactly why laughing protects the heart.
- d) researchers are aware that stress influences heart conditions.

42. According to the text, the ability to laugh:

- a) can be a learned behavior.
- b) shows better results than any medicine.
- c) is difficult for everybody.
- d) is unnatural for all human beings.

43. According to the text, the alternative which presents a recommendation for a healthy heart is:

- a) eating high saturated fat foods.
- b) using the elevator instead of the stairs.
- c) exercising regularly.
- d) smoking only light cigarettes.

44. The underlined expression in the sentence, "Can a laugh everyday keep the heart attack away?" (line 1) means that laughing:

- a) weakens your heart.
- b) can cause a heart attack.
- c) accelerates your heart beat.
- d) can prevent a heart attack.

45. If a person is diagnosed with “impairment of the endothelium” (line 4) it means that the endothelium:
- a) is damaged.
 - b) is totally repaired.
 - c) works properly.
 - d) is absent.
46. In the sentence, “[...] may have important implications in societies” (line 9), the word “may” indicates:
- a) advice.
 - b) possibility.
 - c) politeness.
 - d) certainty.
47. Choose the alternative which presents a verb:
- a) events (line 7).
 - b) exercises (line 12).
 - c) states (line 6).
 - d) series (line 5).
48. The underlined expression in the sentence, “[...] eat right and laugh a few times a day” (line 15), corresponds to:
- a) frequently.
 - b) occasionally.
 - c) rarely.
 - d) never.
49. The possessive adjective “its” (line 6) refers to
- a) people. (line 6).
 - b) study (line 6).
 - c) heart attack (line 5).
 - d) heart disease (lines 6).
50. The alternative that presents an example of the superlative form is:
- a) “[...] either naturally or as learned behavior [...].” (line 9)
 - b) “They generally laughed less [...].” (line 7).
 - c) “[...] they displayed more anger and hostility [...].” (lines 7-8).
 - d) “[...] its most significant finding [...].” (line 6).